It will be a great disappointment to the public to know that there is a strong likelihood that neither Handspring nor Requital will be seen at the post for the Brighton Cup on Saturday. Every effort has been made to key these great ur-year-olds up to the point where they could be depended upon to do their best at two miles and a quarter, but James Rowe admitted on Friday that it was very doubtful whether Requital could be got ready in time, and now comes word from Saratoga that Handspring has injured one of his knees, and Trainer McCabe must let up on plus for some time. The trouble formerly was with Handspring's heels, but that cleves farrier, Martin Sinnott of the Coney Island Boulevard, who has shod some of the most famous runners and trotters of the day, has overcome that diffi-

But there is still a hope that one of the pair will come to the post, and even if they do not the nublic will see a borse race, as there is more than one dark horse in preparation for the prize, and Ben Brush will not have a walkover any means. It is a pity that anything should have happened to Requital and Handspring, for with this pair at the post the success of the race vould have been assured.

The Brighton Beach meeting is an unqualified pricess, the perfect weather, the good programme, and the spirited racing bringing good crowds every day. More people would naturally be on hand but for the counter attractions of Saratoga, and it is to be hoped that another year there will be no conflict between these tracks, The form shown by Michael III., Abuse, and Lehman was the feature of the racing at Brighton during the past week. Is N & good thing for the owners of some of the two-year-old cracks that Michael III. is not engaged in the Futurity and some of the other big prizes that will be run for shortly. While on the leggy, lathy order, he had length enough to warrant his being a goodlooking three-year-old. He has a world of speed, and it is reported that he has been playing with Previous in the morning work at Gravesend, and the public knows that the son of Meddler is quite a racehorse. Michael III, cost his young rner $4,500, and as he is easily worth $10,000 of anybody's money. Charley Dwyer was in luck the day he bought the big chestnut. As for Lehman, he cannot be left out of consideration in any of the big autumn handicaps, and if Pitts lore Phil wants to take him into camp he must start the gray Belmar instead of either of the etart the gray beams.

bdys. The Winner might beat him at a mile and Howard Mann would undoubtedly lower the colors of the chestnut in the mud, but day in and day out Lehman would win a majority of the races. He is right on edge now, and is a much better horse than Easterners have believed, although the West has always said that he was a racer of considerable class. Abuse must command the admiration of all, for he runs with a pair of forelegs that must be seen to be appreciated. The knobs which all, for he runs with a pair of forcegs to be appreciated. The knobs which be seen to be appreciated. The knobs which Is nine S, carried to victory were nothing to the "boxing gloves" Abuse has, and his condition and winning capacity under the circumstances are a ribute to the skill of Fred and George Foster, who own and train him.

Of the other candidates, The Huguenot, owned by the Messrs. Thompson, is reported as being a very much improved youngster. He is a brother to Heury of Navarre, and has been at Saratoga; Uriel is James R. Keene's candidate, and is already a winner; Great Bend, a winner, will represent O. H. P. The French racing season for two-year-olds, which opened recently, was preceded by a sale of the yearlings bred by the noted horseman M. Camillo Blanc at his prolific stud near Versailles. The Field of Ang. 7 says:

"There was plenty of competition for them, as they are very well bred, and, what is more, come of good running blood. Eight of the fourteen were bought in, but the six sold, all of them by Stuart, realized 23.128, Mr. W. K. Vanderblit, who bought the whole of M. Blanc's year-lings last season, giving 2800 for Oasis, a son of Stoart and Nerina H., and 2660 for Ontario, by Stuart—Eva. But the highest price was paid for Ormesson, a son of Stuart and Korrigane, his purchaser being M. Jean de Reszke, the well-known operatic singer, who has a large breeding and racing stud in Poland."

SARATOGA'S BID TO COLLEGE MEN

They say that Yale and Harvard have always been unfavorable to Saratoga because neither college ever won an intercollegiate race there. It is said that no course is in favor at any college over which the collegiate has never rowed in winning form. This is responsible for the effort that is now being put forth to have Saratoga Lake selected by for the next three years at least. Complaints from several of the defeated crews at Poughkeepsie this year were heard in reference to the course on the Hudson. Pennsylvania found fault; so did the men from Harvard and Yale. News of these complaints reached Saratoga, and Saratogians reasoned that, if the Pough keepsie course had become unpopular, it was of the Williamsburg A A. yesterday were signalized by the further increase of the lead of the veterar provide a referee's boat, the expense of transporting the crews to and from Saratoga and their maintenance while there to be borne by the colleges.

This was understood on both sides to be an informal proposition, subject to modification when the time came to officially ratify it. The Saratogans wanted it clearly understood that Saratoga was flot competing against any other course. They reminded the college men that for years they had been in the habit of using the inducements held out by Saratoga simply to get more favorable terms from the representatives of other towns desirous of securing the race. They said that they had grown tired of having those who had the power to select a course asking Saratoga to submit a proposition when they had not intention of voting for Saratoga. Their position now is this: If the Poughkeepsie course its unsatisfactory, Saratoga would be glad to have the race. She is ready to offer reasonable inducements, nothing more, and these not in competition with the offers made by any other place. A three years' agreement is the only one Seratoga would think worth while entertaining.

The Harvard, Yale, and Columbia men, to whom the proposition was made, did not grow enthusiastic over it at first, but they thought a little more kindly of it before the conference broke up. The first objection made to the Saratoga course was that it affords no way for specialors to follow the race. The Saratogians met this objection by a statement that both surprised and pleased the college men. The latter were reminded that the Fitchburg Railroad skirts the shore of the lake at some distance from it. At the northern end of the lake the railroad runs almost down to the shore. To run a branch of the road from the northend of the lake down along the shore would, it was said, he a comparatively easy thing, and one which the Fitchburg road would entertain under certain conditions. One of those conditions was that the regatts should be held on Saratoga Lake for at least three years. Any less time would not warra Tournament on the Norwood Park Course. To-morrow will be a day of importance both in national and local golf, for it is the chosen time for the closing of the entries in the women's championship and the open tournament at Long Branch. R. B. Kerr, the secretary of the U. S. G. A., will receive the entries for the first event and the nominations for the second should be made to J. W. Albaugh, Jr., secretary of the Norwood Field Club. For the women's championship the entries, it is believed, will surpass in number the list for the earlier events, but they will still fall far below the 102 of the June championship of Great Britain, won by Miss E C. Orr. In 1895, when the first championship was played on the Meadowbrook links, there were only twelve starters, and Mrs. Charles S. Brown won with Miss N. C. Sargent second The scores for the eighteen holes were 132 and 134, a good showing on such a drizzly day as was vouchsafed the players.

With the Shinnecock Hills and Morris County

Golf Clubs, the Essex County Club leads in the number of its women players. Miss N. C. Sargent is undoubtedly the best golfer in the Esser County Club, and, as the present champion Miss Beatrix Hoyt of the Shinnecock Hills Golf Club, is certain to enter, a comparison of the game shown by the two promises to be quite in teresting. The uniform improvement in the quality of the golf will be another aspect of the competition worth studying. Of course, wonen play golf in a more desultory way than their brother amateurs, and this must be conidered when criticising their style and execution. Yet, in a competition national in its scope and in which women from all parts of the country will play, there should be no shrinking from uch notoriety as the printing of the scores and the story of the play entails. In Great Britain the women's championship is treated in the newspapers as exhaustively as either the amateur or the open event. The same rule should

Aside from loaning its links and entertaining the visitors the Essex County Club has no power over the details of the championship. The real management rests with the U. S. G. A , and the regulations of the match will be attended to by its President, Laurence Curtis, of the Country Club of Brookline, and by Secretary Kerr, Each has received ample experience in conducting important tournaments, and in their hands affairs are certain to run smoothly.

All the summer festivities of Long Branch are added incentives to attract players to the open tourney at Norwood Park. The course is very fast, yet a sporty one. It crosses and recrosses the level sward of the park, and hedges and roads are the most frequent hazards. Yet, with a playing length of 2,560 yards, it compares fa vorably with most of the nine-hol- links nearby. About the putting greens there can be only one About the putting greens there can be only one opinion. They are as keen as a billiard table, and the players who have the art of putting down to a fine point should return low cards. On account of the number of hedges some local rules have been made necessary, and they should be studied carefully by every player who intends to take part in the tournament. The rules follow:

Rule 1—A ball driven from the tee on the first, third, and home holes into the hedges or roads beyond the first flag may be lifted and dropped back of same without penalty. If the ball be driven into the hedges on the third hole to the left of first flag it cannot be lifted without the usual penalty. Rule 2-A loai: riven on to any putting green other than the one being played for must be dropped behind the green without penalty.

Rule 3-A ball lying in the hedges or gutters at the roots of hedges must be lifted and dropped in the direction in which it entered with the loss of one stroke. This rule is made for the preservation of the hedges, and players are requested to observe it strictly.

liedges, and players are requested to observe it strictly.

Iluie 4-Players are requested to use the steps over hedges and to compe! their caddles to do so.

Saratoga's open tournament will clash in dates with the women's championable, but this is not of serious consequence, as it will hardly affect either the size of the field or the outside interest in the first formal golfing competion at the noted resort.

The full eighteen-hole course was used for the first time in Saturday's handicap at the Newport Golf Club. Reginald Brooks won in class A, with 86, 1, 85, and in class B the winner was H. P. Rogers, with 117, 11, 106.

On next Saturday there will be a team match, six on a side, at the Nutley Golf Club between the home players and the North Jersey Country Club. The last contest for the Governor's Cup will be held on Aug. 28. On the same day the second match to qualify for the Championship Cup, to be played for in October, will be held at the Knglewood Golf Club. The Proctor Cup, at mixed foursomes, will be played for on next Friday at the Misquamicut Golf Club, and the Ballantine Cup at medal play will be the prize on Saturday.

lantine Cup at medal play will be the prize on Saturday.

Golf is so popular in the White Mountains that a project has been started to organize a league for the purpose of regulating team matches and to promote the holding of open tournaments. The White Mountain Life conducts a regular golding department under the heading of "Putts and Drives," from which the following is clipped:

The best score for nine holes made on the links of the Waumbek, Jefferson, this year is forty-four, done a few days ago by Master Augustus R. Fisk of Platin Bield, N. J. Thalls only one stroke more than the record, which is still held by A. H. Fenn, the Southern champion.

ROCHESTER, Aug. 15 .- In the pigeon shooting match esterday at the Driving Park, J. A. R. Elliott o Kansas City defeated Sim Glover, the local crack, by a score of 92 to 84. There were five traps, thirty yards distant, with a sixty-yard boundary limit. Jack Fanning of San Francisco was referee. Glover's defeat is attributed to the fact that he had been en-gaged in shoots for local clubs all the week and was thoroughly tired out. Elliott was in fine condition.

Gossip of the Handball Courtz.

The mid-week feature at the Brooklyn Club's court will be a doubles match, in which Phil Casey and Prof. John Coggins are drawn against Dr. Pall Smith and Jere McMahon. Play will begin at 2 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon.

The members' tournament at the Brooklyn Club's court has ended in a meritorious win for P. Stafford and J. R. Lynch. They were drawn in the finst round on "club day" against C. R. Clampitt and John O'ffieln and beat them after a close and exciting match by 21-16, 11-21, 21-19, 14-21, 21-20, Strange to say, the losing pair made three aces more in the aggregate.

Strange to say, the losing pair made three aces more in the aggregate.

Paul Schultz and John Liddy, the two crack players of the Brooklyn Fire Department, are after the scalps and money of any other pair in the department who will come forward and take them on for erriber. Their challenge is especially directed at Engine Company 43. On "club day" at the Brooklyn court James Liddy, the champion player of the Brooklyn police, had the bardihood to face the two fire laddles and they polished him off in short order by $1-0.

Uptown devotes of handball answered the "club day" roll call at the Manhattanville court in goodly numbers and quickly filled out a card of seven matches. W. Delaney roused the other experis to emulation by playing all round B. McCaffery, after losing the first game. Charles Killiles and L. Leonard defeated Cashman and W. Brady, and the other successful scorers included J. Kelley, P. Shortell, E. Delghan, J. Flaherty, J. Glynn, C. O'Leary, J. Donohue, and E. Hoffman.

In addition to the incidents already noticed there were many features of unusual interest in the "clubday" aport at the Brooklyn court. The two Trains experts, James Fitzgerald and Jere McMahon, had a lively rubber, in which the Irish champion scored straight games $1-11, 21-15, 21-16. K. Ladley and Prof. Coggins beat M. O'Donnell and John Taugley three games to two: M. McMahon and Jimmy Cultum outpointed John O'Donnell and C. Halegh. Thomas Waters and John Camplel scored over J. Murphy and M. Meagher, and Pete Connoily and M. O'Donnell wound up with a surprise for the talent by winning from Phil Caser and Eddie Shelly 21-18, 16-21, $1-90. This was another case in which the beaten pair rolled up the higher aggregate of acre

Long Series of Games for the New Yorks at

Manager Joyce has not lost all hope of getting the New Yorks into the Temple Cup series. In fact, he believes that his team will surely be one of the contestants for the trophy. It is possible that he may heed the wishes of many enthusiasts by trying Tiernan in left field in place of Holmes. The New Yorks begin a long series at home now, and the cranks will watch for a rapid climb. The Philadelphias play here to-day, tomorrow, and Wednesday, and then come the Louisvilles, with "Dad" Clarke, for three games mores will meet the Brooklyns three times, be with interest. According to close figuring, about 65,000 persons paid on an average 50 cents each to see the seven Boaton-New York games just ended. What with extra grand-stand charges, it is estimated that the gross receipts for the series footed up more than $40,000.

At the start of his career with the New York Club McCreery leads off in the batting averages. Davis added 7 points to his average last week. Tiernan dropped 9 points and Van Haltren 3 points. Joyce went back 1 point, while Meekin increased his by 7. The team added 1 point, the opponents in the meantime falling off a solitary figure. There was no change in the fielding average.

Harnie's pitchers were somewhat easy for the opposing players in the games played last week. There was an increase of 4 points in their batting, while the Brooklyns added only 1 point. The latter players dropped 1 point in their fielding average. The records follow:

doubt, would like to know the real cause (if any) for his retirement. Capt. Joyce is reported to have said that Tierman "has not been playing up-to-date ball." Now, anybody who will look over the records of the last ten games will find that no man on the team played better ball than Tierman. In the last Brooklyn game and the three cames at Philadephia he made ten hits, and no other player made as many runs or played better ball. At hoston his ficiling was simply phenomenal.

Many persons think that "Scrappy" displayed poor judgment in taking Tiernan out and leaving ilolines in. "Ducky." while a good player, is not up to Tiernan's standard in any department of the game. Tiernan is a much better batter than Holmes, and, as Capt. Joyce wants to play the best batters, he should have placed Tiernan in left field, thereby strengthen ing the batting order.

..0 8 0 0 0 0 0 0 1 ...4 N 1 Batteries-Carrick and Rothfuss; Newton and POPULAR SUBURBAN ROUTES. League Politicians Already Picking Out Probable Candidates for the Next Election of Persident-Prominent Secoting Hiders And ply for Beinstatement-Routes and Soies. The weather yesterday was suitable for runs, and thousands of riders visited the rural and shore resorts. While Coney Island was patron ized by a large contingent of riders who sought short runs to enjoy a dip in the surf, the popular section for riders seemed to be along the Jersey coast. Parties of club members from the leading organizations in this city, Brooklyn, and New Jersey took the boat to the Atlantic Highlands and journeyed ashore through Seabright and Long Branch to Asbury Park. There was a fair representation of riders throughout the inland section of New Jersey, but the average was less than usual, The towns along the south shore of Long Island attracted big delegations of riders who visited Massapequa, Babylon and Bay Shore. The Merrick road was fairly alive with riders all day.

The shore resorts at the Bayonne terminus of the Hudson County Boulevard were visited by a great number of club and unattached riders. At the recent meet of the !. A. W. the leading officials and ex-officio members of the organization discussed the question of a candidate for the next President of the League. Leading legislators of the Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, and New Jersey divisions got together and discussed the question thoroughly. Pennsylvania and New Jersey will pull together at the next and New Jersey will pull together at the next election, and house are entertained that Massachusetts will also join this combination. In such an issue it seems unlikely that the New York State division will cut much of a figure unless she can conciliate the West and secure its support, which is doubtful. It is claimed that Sterling Elliott of Roston, ex-President of the L. A. W., is anxious to become a candidate for the office again, but the popular candidate, as previously announced in This Sux, seems to be George D. Gideon of Philadelphia. Gircon at the present time declares that he is not a condidate and will not stand for the office ander any circumstances. It is felt, however, that this never termination will be changed by the persiass on of his friends. Everything points to the homination of severa; candidates for the office in the fail, and an interesting battle is anticipate in

It has leaked out that the wheelmen on the Pacific coast who openly defied the jurisdiction of the L. A. W. last spring and set out to run an independent cycling association are meeting with noor success. The rebellious racing contingent, including the well-known riders, Outo Zeigler, Jr., Allan Jones and C. R. Coulter, who severed their connection with the League by affiliating with the outlaw association, have already applied to the officers of the League for reinstatement. What disposition the Racing Board will make of the applications is not known, but it is felt that the League may be inclined to overlack the breach of rules by these riders in order to rob the independent association of three of its leading racing men. Numerically the independent or ganization on the coast is stronger than the L. A. W. but the latter is hopeful that the discord which seems to be apreading in that seet ton will eventually result in the disruption of the "robel" league.
